Principles of Sacred Music found in Official Church Teaching: The Second Vatican Council Part II

This week we continue our series on sacred music with a continued focus on the provisions of Sacrosanctum Concilium – This Sacred Council, as found in chapter VI of the Constitution of the Sacred Liturgy.

Section 116 noted the importance of Gregorian Chant, and that it be given pride of place. Section 117 ordered that the typical editions aka “official liturgical books” of Gregorian Chant would be completed, and a more critical edition prepared as well. The main reason for this provision stems from a corruption of the ancient melodies and methods of singing chant that occurred in the 17th and 18th centuries through the Medici/Ratisbonne editions. The genius of chant was its focus on the language of the texts as opposed to a strict rhythm or meter. Publishers of various liturgical books in the 17th and 18th century sought to impose rules for the singing of chant such as a strict meter. By imposing a strict meter, they eliminated notes thus corrupting the melodies. In most places Gregorian Chant became mechanical and ugly as opposed to the free-flowing rhythms of the medieval melodies.

A pioneer of the 19th Century Liturgical Movement who re-founded Benedictine Monasticism after the French Revolution and The Napoleonic Wars was Prosper Louis Pascal Guéranger, born on April 4th, 1805 and dying nearly 70 years later January 30th, 1875. Monastic life had been made illegal by the revolution, and the Napoleonic wars likewise damaged monastic foundations across the European continent. Dom Guéranger founded Solesmes Abbey at an abandoned Benedictine Priory. The monks of Solesmes, unsatisfied with the corrupted chant books did paleographic studies and research of the ancient chant manuscripts thus restoring the authentic melodies of Gregorian Chant and providing interpretations of the neumes – Gregorian notes, for singing. After the Council the Holy See, i.e. the Vatican, entrusted to the Abbey of Solesmes the responsibility of preparing restored chant books including more critical editions known as the Graduale Triplex and Offertoriale Triplex. These critical editions have some of the paleographic sources included in the actual books themselves.

Here is a list of some of the official Books of Gregorian Chant that have been published since the council:

Graduale Romanum – The Roman Gradual. This book contains what are called the “proper chants of the Mass” whose texts are primarily taken from the Book of Psalms. For every Sunday, feast day, and days in Advent, Lent, and Easter there are distinct texts and chant melodies for use at the entrance, the chant that follows the Scripture readings known as the Gradual (what we know as the Responsorial Psalm is an alternative to the Gradual), Alleluia or Tract in lent, Sequences – only five remain, an Offertory Chant, and a Communion Chant.

Antiphonale Romanum – The Roman Antiphonal. This book contains the antiphons and responsories used for the singing of the Divine Office – Lauds, Vespers, Matins – now known as the Office of Readings, Compline, etc. With the extensive reforms to the Divine Office, aka Liturgy of the Hours or the Roman Breviary, the completion of this book is still ongoing after 50 years since the end of the Council. Two volumes of this book have thus far been released the last being in 2010. Among them is the Volume for singing Vespers aka Evening Prayer on Sundays, Solemnities and Feast Days.

Kyriale – This book contains the ordinary parts of the Mass. These are the fixed texts sung at every Mass such as the Kyrie (Kyrie Eleison-Christe Eleison-Kyrie Eleison is the only part of the Mass still in Greek), Gloria – Glory to God in the Highest, Credo – I believe in One God, Sanctus – Holy, Holy, Holy, and Angus Dei – Lamb of God.

Liber Cantualis – Song Book – this book has simpler chants used throughout the year.

Another provision of the Second Vatican Council was to prepare “an edition containing simpler melodies, for use in small churches.” This was accomplished through the publishing of a book called the Graduale Simplex – The simple Gradual. This book took melodies from the old Antiphonale Romanum – Roman Antiphonal, used for the Divine Office which contained simpler melodies, and then took the proper texts of the Mass contained in the Graduale Romanum – The Roman Gradual, and married the two. It was a book that never really took off or found much usage after it was published. An English adaptation of the Graduale Simplex by Paul Ford named By Flowing Waters was published by The Liturgical Press in 1999. Sacred Heart has about 15 copies of this book purchased during Fr. Creagan's pastorate.

The Bible and the Virgin Mary Journey through the Scriptures Session 5— The Ark of the Covenant

In this session we're going to focus on the connections between Mary and the Ark of the Covenant in the Old Testament. This is going to lead us to see why she is referred to as the Ark of the New Covenant. Session 5: Tuesday March 24, two sessions will be offered. During the day from 1– 2:30pm and an evening session 7-8:30pm.

"Mystery of God," a film series by Bishop Robert Barron.

After Mass on Saturday May 2 and after the 8 and 10am Masses on Sunday May 3 in the Marian Rooms.

Lesson 5: Exploring the Trinity: The most important event in human history took place when God, infinite and incomprehensible, became a finite and familiar man, Jesus Christ. While some people reduce Jesus to a wise teacher, the testimony of scripture and the early Church makes it clear that Jesus of Nazareth was, and is, God incarnate. He's the Second Person of the Trinity. And by his sacrificial death and glorious resurrection, we too can enter into Trinitarian life.

MONTH SEVEN – Developing Baby Spiritual Adoption Program

You are in the home stretch with your spiritually adopted baby. Beginning this month the baby uses all four senses. He can see, hear, taste, touch, cough, yawn and hiccup. He now recognizes his mother's voice. During this time he will also receive antibodies from his mother protecting him from a wide variety of diseases.

Say the following daily prayer for a period of nine months.

"Jesus, Mary and Joseph, I love you very much. I beg you to spare the life of [baby's name] the unborn baby that I have spiritually adopted who is in danger of abortion."

Pastor's Article Continues From Page 1

One of the reasons why chant seemingly disappeared as music in the liturgy after the Second Vatican Council was the introduction of the vernacular into the Liturgy. Since the Latin texts are integral to Gregorian Chant the only places where the full corpus of chants is utilized is where Latin is used more extensively. Here at Sacred Heart in the Ordinary Form of Mass which is mostly in the vernacular we have used very little of the Gregorian Corpus, most often for the Kyrie and Angus Dei though this Lent we are also using the Sanctus as at the Basilica.

One thing that has characterized the last 15 years or so among Catholic musicians and composers are many new adaptations of chant melodies and Gregorian modes into the vernacular, in our case, English. Books such as the Simple English Propers of Adam Bartlett, or The Propers of the Mass in English for Sundays and Feast Days by Fr. Samuel Weber O.S.B. are but two examples. Jeff Patry also had composed some simple chants of his own for use at Sacred Heart.

In sharing this information, I just want to give you a sense of a world of music that is little known in the Catholic World today even though the Second Vatican Council and The Roman Missal taught that the Gregorian form was to be given pride of place. The main way we have given pride of place to the Gregorian forms is through singing the simple chants provided in the Roman Missal itself especially at the 10am Mass. (These are the tones used by Deacon Ramsey, me, and the congregation when chanting the greetings, collect, gospel introduction, prayer over the gifts, preface, doxology, post communion prayer, final blessing and dismissal and all the responses sung by the entire congregation. All of these simple chants have been adapted into English).

Since the entire liturgy has come to be celebrated almost exclusively in the vernacular, most of the music we use in the liturgy today is contemporary meaning it dates from the 1960's, or was in use as Catholic hymns used at Low Mass before the Second Vatican Council such as Immaculate Mary, Hail, Holy Queen Enthroned Above, etc. or borrowed from other protestant traditions such as Anglicanism, Lutheranism, and Methodism with adjustments to the some of the hymn texts.

Next week I will continue with more of the provisions of the Second Vatican Council on Sacred Music along with continued commentary.

Yours in the Sacred Heart of Jesus,

Fr. Bryan J.B. Pedersen
